

Many thanks for the opportunity to virtually attend the BDIAP summer school. I found the experience very useful and rewarding. There were no significant issues with audio distortion or image quality, which can sometimes be an issue when participating virtually. There was ample opportunity to engage and ask questions. There were a good range of experienced speakers and I felt the sessions were appropriate in complexity for my level (ST3) and appropriate in their content for FRCPath Part 2 as well as generally geared towards future clinical practice. It was also very interesting to hear from the international speakers and their differing experiences and e.g. access to various ihc stains and molecular tests. I am only sorry I was not able to attend the talks in person in Bonn as it would have been great to participate in the networking and social activities run as part of the programme.

Violet Albert (ST3 trainee, London UK)